

Craft Enrichment at Appalachian State offers Something for Everyone

Written by Steve Frank

Tuesday, 06 September 2011 15:14

---

The Fall schedule for Craft Enrichment classes includes pottery, painting, spinning, bowl turning, basket making, quilting, collage, jewelry, stain glass, and glass fusing. Classes meet once per week, and both day and evening classes are offered. Whether you are a hobbyist, an advanced student, or someone who wants to get started on a hobby you've always wanted to do, craft classes at ASU are an opportunity to explore your creative self and develop your distinctive artistic signature. Small classes provide individual attention from faculty who are dedicated professionals committed both as teachers and craft artists. You will have time to see where an idea leads in studio-based classes that promote development of artists at all levels. Read more about these classes and register now at <http://craftenrichment.appstate.edu/>. You may contact Eric Reichard at 828-262-6360 with any questions.