

The ASU News Bureau has issued a statement about the death of a student in the early afternoon at a dorm on campus. The statement reads, "An Appalachian State University student was found dead in a residence hall early this (Wednesday) afternoon. The name of the deceased is being withheld pending notification of the next of kin. Foul play is not suspected. The university is providing counseling to friends and others on campus affected by the student's death." Watauga Medics, Boone Fire, and ASU Police responded to a call at White Residence Hall just after 2pm to a 4th floor bathroom area, and rushed the student to Watauga Medical Center while doing CPR.