

Monday Night Concert Series: Last chance

Written by

Sunday, 05 August 2007 20:00

It's the eighth year of the Monday Night Concert Series in Blowing Rock- and tonight at seven is your last chance to catch the event until next year.

It all happens at the Broyhill Park Gazebo on the Lake in Blowing Rock- and tonight's show features the entertainers formerly known as the Farmhouse singers, according to Jennifer Brown.

They play everything- including bluegrass, she says.

The show is free and the public is encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets.