

Car accident on Flint Hill

Written by

Sunday, 12 August 2007 17:13

A car accident on Flint Hill Road last night kept emergency personnel busy for awhile this evening.

Unofficial reports say a car may have gone over an embankment. Wilkes County communications, however, says the accident was not as bad as it originally sounded on the police scanners- and that an occupant of the vehicle has been sent to the hospital for non-life threatening injuries. The communications source confirms the accident was not serious, and more information will be made available tomorrow.