This just in- Boone Police are investigating a break-in that appeared to have happened while two women were sleeping.

The two roommates got back to their Howard Street apartment last night around 1:00 a.m., and woke up this morning to discover several items missing, including a digital camera and a vehicle. Someone is thought to have entered the apartment via an unlocked rear window. Boone Police investigators are putting together a report with more information- in the meantime, anyone who may have noticed something suspicious in the Howard Street area early this morning is encouraged to call the department at 828-262-4500.
