

Website Makeover Complete

Written by

Friday, 24 August 2007 08:48

The Town of Boone's new web format is on-line and ready for access.

According to town finance director Amy Davis, the new design is "much more user oriented," making it easier for residents to get information like meeting minutes and even calendars. The town has been working on the page since May, and enlisted the help of Perception Art's Artie Miller. Check out the progress at www.townofboone.com.