The grand opening of the Ashe County Humane Society's new facility on July 28 will be an exciting time, not just for director Sharon Sweeney, but for the animals as well.

The Humane Society has been operating out of a trailer.

While the trailer gave the public a place to go, the new facility will be far superior, according to Sweeney.

In the meantime, the Humane Society could use your help.

They are currently in the middle of a capital campaign to raise the $110,000 to pay for the facility.

The goal is to pay off the property by 2009.
