

Google providing jobs

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Sunday, 15 July 2007 20:26

Since announcing plans to build a 220-acre site in Lenoir six months ago, Google has already provided work for eleven businesses, including six based in North Carolina.

240 people are currently employed at the site- many from Caldwell.

A website has been launched to update the public on the project. Learn more at www.google.com/lenoir