

New Watauga High Dedication This Morning

Written by Steve Frank
Friday, 30 July 2010 05:25

Today's the day—ready or not. The dedication of the new Watauga High School. The event features Governor Bev Perdue and a number of other county and state dignitaries, school officials and more, with music provided by a band made up of the Watauga Community Band and grads of the Watauga High School Band. The event starts at 10, but with a large crowd expected, advice is to be there early. Traffic entering the school will use the east side entrance to Old East King Street as the side from the Boone side will be blocked off. See the earlier GBR article for the map to the site.