Blowing Rock firemen and three backup departments were called to an early morning apartment fire Saturday morning. The call came in at 1:24 this morning at 483 Ransom Street, with Blowing Rock Fire units finding a working fire inside the apartment, one resident suffering severe breathing difficulty from smoke inhalation, who was transported to Watauga Medical Center by Watauga Medics. The fire was knocked down in short order, but the clean up went on into the morning.
