

Turchin to host Shooting Stars Exhibit

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Wednesday, 02 May 2007 03:17

A new exhibit is coming to ASU's Turchin Center for the Visual Arts. The same gallery that has featured Picasso will host Watauga schools' student work as part of the Shooting Stars exhibit.

Students took to the stage of Farthing Auditorium on April 20 to showcase their performing talents. The exhibit will open on May 4th, just in time for the Downtown Boone Art Crawl, and is made possible by the Watauga Education fund.