

Day Camp- Just the ticket for active kids

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Tuesday, 22 May 2007 04:00

If your kids like exploring the High Country, Blowing Rock Parks and Recreation Summer Day Camp may be just the thing to hone their sense of adventure.

The camp is for rising first through seventh graders and starts June 11th. Arts and crafts and field trips to museums and the Hickory Crawdads are just some of the highlights according to Jennifer Brown. The camp runs through August 3rd

. Parents have the option of signing kids up for all 8 weeks or just one or two. For information, call 828-295-5222.