

Local Grocer Holds Photo Contest

Written by Adam Hicks
Tuesday, 14 July 2009 05:35

---

Earth Fare is holding a photo contest in which residents are asked to take a picture with a tomato they purchased from Earth Fare.

There are no constraints to what type of photos can be taken and residents are asked to come up with the most creative and fun pictures possible. Earth Fare suggested posing with the fruit atop a mountain or dressing the tomato in clothes.

$500 in winnings will be given away through this contest with prizes ranging from a $250 gift certificate to Earth Fare for first place to a $25 gift certificate for fifth.

According to officials, this contest is part of Earth Fare's Tomato Celebration that is held throughout the month of July. On July 25, tomato dishes will be featured throughout the store and local tomato farmers will be celebrated.

To get involved, residents should e-mail their submissions to information@earthfare.com. The e-mail should include the participant's name, address, and a JPEG attachment of their tomato photo.

Local Grocer Holds Photo Contest

Written by Adam Hicks
Tuesday, 14 July 2009 05:35

---

Winners will be notified on or before August 19.