The Watauga High volleyball team snapped its mini-two game losing streak Saturday.

The Pioneers (3-2), coming off a pair of five set losses in the last three days, took their frustrations out on Newton-Conover and Enka in a tri-meet Saturday at Lentz-Eggers Gym. WHS defeated Newton-Conover in its first match 3-0 (25-22, 25-11, 25-22); and the Pioneers defeated Enka 3-0, winning all three games by identical 25-16 scores.

Kristen Carter backboned WHS with 68 assists in the two game sweep. Channing Hagaman had 20 kills and 26 digs in the two matches combined, and Colby Combs had 19 kills and two blocks.

Anna Church and Ashlyn Van Dyke each had 11 digs against Newton-Conover; Rebecca Hayes had seven kills and six digs, Hannah Stewart had seven kills and eight digs against Enka. The Pioneers travel to Forbush Monday night.
