It hasn't taken Zeb Richardson, who played at Ashe County High, very long to get use to his new surroundings. The freshman led his new school, Guilford College, to a 65-55 victory over Randolph-

Macon Saturday night. Guilford is a Division III school in Greensboro, N.C., and a member of the Old Dominion Athletic Conference.

Richardson, who played in the East-West Senior All-Star Game in Greensboro last July and the Carolina Classic in Myrtle Beach, S.C., last March, poured in a career-high and game-high 15 points in the win. He tallied nine of his points in the second half.

Richardson, who has played in all five games for the Quakers this season, eight points, five rebounds a game. He's playing on average around 15 minutes a game. The Quakers (4-1, 2-0 in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference) take on Greensboro College at home Wednesday night.
