Football coach Shane Laws of A.C. Reynolds High was involved in a traffic pile up on the Charlotte Highway Tuesday night. Laws, according to Athletic Director Larry Brow, is OK. He wasn't seriously injured, but the pile up closed down Charlotte Highway in the Reynolds community while authorities investigated the accident, which occurred at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday evening.

There were injures reported at the scene, but the extent of those injuries is unknown. Laws, who played football and graduated from Appalachian State University, will begin his seventh season with the Rockets this fall. He's 60-18 during his tenure with five conference championships and a state title in 2009.
