The Appalachian State athletic department has announced that the Mountaineers have been selected to make a league-high three appearances this fall on SportsSouth as part of the SoCon television package.

The Mountaineers will have their road games at Wofford (October 17) and Elon (November 14), and their home game with Georgia Southern (October 24) televised. All of those games will begin at 3 pm.

In all the Mountaineers will be on TV four times this season. Their season opener on September 5 at East Carolina will be televised on MASN. That game will air at 12 noon. ASU has also announced that all their remaining home games (McNeese State on September 12, Samford on September 26, North Carolina Central on October 10th, Chattanooga on November 7, and Western Carolina on November 21) will all kick-off at 3:30 pm.
