

'Eyes in the Night'

Written by

Thursday, 30 August 2007 20:00

Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Price Park Amphitheatre, visitors will have the opportunity to touch some "night stalkers."

It's the "Eyes in the Night" program, put on by the National Park Service. Join a ranger to learn the origins of scary night noises and much more. The program is free and expected to last forty minutes.