

New Assistant to the Provost

Written by

Sunday, 09 September 2007 20:00

On a related note, former chair Dr. Sid Connor was appointed assistant Provost last week.

He has been chair of Appalachian's Department of Technology since 2004. In his new position, he will work with representatives from other colleges and universities to identify and implement engineering technology programs at the N.C. Engineering Technologies Center in Hickory.