

Mast General Store owners featured on 'Appalachian Perspective'

Written by

Monday, 17 September 2007 20:30

Mast General Store's John and Faye Cooper will be featured on Appalachian State University's 'Appalachian Perspective,' hosted by Chancellor Kenneth Peacock.

The pair will talk about their successful business and civic leadership. John Cooper is a Watauga County Commissioner as well as a member of Appalachian's Board of Trustees. Faye Cooper has served on An Appalachian Summer Advisory Board and the Campaign for the Second Century steering committee.