

Chemical Spill on Old Mabel School Road: Not real

Written by

Wednesday, 03 October 2007 22:37

Sirens and rescue workers may have caught your attention near Old Mabel School Road in Watauga County yesterday.

The area was the scene of an emergency management drill to test and train local rescue workers. Emergency management personnel set up a mock chemical spill. They did a good job- many passersby thought they were witnessing a real emergency situation.