

Governor to dedicate 421 in Wilkes

Written by

Wednesday, 10 October 2007 20:34

---

Governor Mike Easley is making a stop in Wilkes County today.

Easley will join other state and local officials, as well as members of the NASCAR racing community to dedicate a five-mile stretch of U.S. 421 in Wilkes County in honor of famed racecar driver and Emmy Award-winning commentator Benny Parsons. The dedication happens at 11 a.m. today at the Benny Parsons Racing Museum in Wilkesboro.