

Construction worker falls at Eagle's Nest

Written by

Monday, 15 October 2007 10:48

---

An accident last week at Eagle's Nest in Banner Elk claimed the life of a construction worker.

John Anderson of Roan Mountain fell an estimated 20 feet and landed on his head. Eagle's Nest developer John Turchin says his thoughts are with the man's family.

The man fell through a stairwell, Turchin said.

OSHA officials have investigated the incident and confirmed that it was indeed an accident.

Turchin called the incident an "unfortunate thing." The accident occurred last Wednesday.