

Hiker falls at Underwood Trail

Written by

Monday, 29 October 2007 09:11

Breaking news- a hiker fell on Grandfather Mountain's Underwood Trail and rescue crews are on their way.

A source within the park said the incident happened in an area where it will take rescue workers some time to reach the victim. Little is known about the incident. Keep listening and check out goblueridge.net for continued updates on this developing story.