

Appalachian State University and Clemson University have paired up in a unique way.

The institutions collaborated to form "The Carolinas Virtual World Consortium" for research, development and implementation studies related to 3-D virtual worlds like "Second Life."

Representatives from both schools will participate in a signing ceremony to make it official Friday at 11 a.m. in the Broyhill Inn and Conference Center.