

Sunday Rear-End Crash Causes Injuries

Written by Steve Frank

Monday, 19 August 2013 05:30

There was one accident with injury yesterday, a two-car rear-end collision just before 6pm in front of Tweetsie Railroad. It appeared that the crash was in the north-bound turn lane to the attraction, a Watauga Medics ambulance transporting one person non-emergency traffic to Watauga Medical Center while trooper Alexander investigated. Blowing Rock Fire responded and maintained one lane of traffic in each direction, although other law enforcement was initially called to slow traffic down due to the potential of other crashes approaching the wreck scene around a curve.