

More than 50% of asthma patients cannot control their disease

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Tuesday, 19 June 2007 19:30

A recent survey of U.S. asthma patients suggests that more than half have uncontrolled asthma.

The report in the Journal of Allergy and Clinical Immunology goes on to suggest that over half of patients have never received an asthma action plan.