

A 50-acre spot fire at Shortoff Mountain had firefighters distracted yesterday- and today firefighters are getting back on track, according to U.S. Forest Service's Dennis Wahlers.

After double checking that the spot fire is contained to firefighters' satisfaction, the original plan of attack will continue.

Firefighters plan to continue burning kindling so the fire has nowhere to spread.

Due to the spot fire, the Table Rock Picnic Area has been closed to the public. Expect to see more smoke drifts today.
