The Watauga County Democratic Party announced they will hold their annual Fall Rally this upcoming weekend.

According to party officials a live auction will be held. Items up for grab include “internships for a day” in the state Senate and House with Senator Steve Goss and Representative Cullie Tarleton, lunch with Boone Mayor Loretta Clawson, a half-day of yard work by Boone Town Councilman Rennie Brantz, a “ride-along” with Watauga County Sheriff Len Hagaman, a fly-over of Watauga County with pilot-Commissioner William R. Winkler III, and several other goods and services donated by Democratic elected officials.

The dinner also includes a silent auction and several guest speakers.

Organizers are offering both a vegetarian and a pork barbecue dinner with all the fixings.

The dinner will be held on Saturday, October 3 at 5:00 p.m. at Watauga High School.

Tickets cost $10 and are available by contacting members of the Watauga County Democratic Party or by stopping by the Appalachian Antique Mall in downtown Boone. Tickets will also be available at the door.
