

Weekend thunderstorms do damage

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Monday, 02 July 2007 07:40

While not as extensive as last week, weekend thunderstorms pounded the High Country, toppling branches and spreading brush on roadways.

Lightning was the real story, however.

Lightning damage caused the temporary closure of the Ashe County Airport. Repairs are expected to continue today. Officials hope to reopen the airport tomorrow.