

Social Security check theft?

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Sunday, 08 July 2007 17:53

A Wilkes woman has misplaced her social security check- and foul play is not being ruled out.

Deputies were alerted by the victim's son after he discovered his mother did not have her social security check, which arrived Tuesday. A deputy was able to confirm with the post office that the check was put in the mailbox- but it has not been found at the residence. An unidentified individual was at the house part of the day- but his mother does not remember who.