

Tree hits man working on sewers

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Wednesday, 18 July 2007 20:00

While working on the town's sewer system near Ronda Town Hall in Wilkes, a construction worker was hit by a tree and reportedly suffered head injuries.

Sources within Town Hall say the tree had been cut down to get to the sewers. The man was airlifted to Baptist Hospital and his condition still unknown at this time.