

Pressure washer thief in Wilkes?

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Tuesday, 24 July 2007 20:00

Two Wilkes County residents reported missing pressure washers this week- and deputies wonder if there is a pressure washer thief on the loose.

One pressure washer disappeared from the back of a pickup truck parked on Rock Creek Road. Another was stolen from a home on Old Highway 60 in Roaring River during approximately the same time frame. The pressure washers missing are a 5 1/2 horse powered Campbell-Hausfield pressure washer, worth $800, and a Troy-Bilt pressure washer, worth $300. Deputies cannot yet confirm or deny that these cases are related.