

Utility Crews Face 'Brutal' Conditions to Make Repairs

Written by Steve Frank

Tuesday, 14 December 2010 08:04

Blue Ridge Electric crews faced white-out conditions and worst trying to restore power to several hundred customers during the height of the storm yesterday. A few scattered outages were being repaired this morning, only a few customers effected, but a reminder of the new 'move over' law requiring motorists to move over for working utility crews.