The Southern Conference announced its Hall of Fame class for 2011 which includes a past Wimbledon and U.S. Open Champion, an NFL Pro Bowler, NCAA All-Americans and a pair of coaching legends.

The 2011 class features six of the most accomplished student-athletes and coaches to ever compete in the Southern Conference. Inductees include Dexter Coakley (Appalachian State), Lefty Driesell (Davidson), Regina Kirk (Chattanooga), Robert Neyland (Tennessee), Vic Seixas (North Carolina) and Shannon Wommack (Chattanooga).

Coakley, who played at Appalachian State University (1993-1996), is the only player to win the Buck Buchanan Award in back-to-back seasons, Coakley was a three-time All-American at Appalachian State. He was named the league's Defensive Player of the Year three straight seasons after being named Freshman of the Year in 1993. Coakley helped the Mountaineers capture the 1995 Southern Conference Championship. It is ASU's only undefeated, untied regular season in school history. A third-round draft pick of the Dallas Cowboys in 1997, Coakley enjoyed a 10-year NFL career with Dallas and the St. Louis Rams, and he was also named to three Pro Bowls.

The inductees will be honored at a ceremony on May 24 at the Marriott in Charleston, S.C., prior to the start of the league's baseball championship.
