It didn't take too long for safety Mark LeGree to find a new home. The former Appalachian State University football player, who was released by the Seattle Seahawks on September 3, has landed on the Arizona Cardinals practice squad. LeGree, an All-America and who had 22 career interceptions during his four-year stay with the Mountaineers, was taken by the Seahawks in the fifth round of the National Football League Draft last April. Ironically, LeGree was the only draft choice the Seahawks (0-2) released. The Cardinals (1-1) play in Seattle on Sunday in an NFC West matchup.
