After a three-goal effort by the Wildcats, Appalachian State men's soccer (8-4-4, 3-2-2 SoCon) was defeated by Davidson (8-7-2, 3-2-1 SoCon) in the Apps' Southern Conference finale on Saturday.

With the loss, the Mountaineers drop to fourth in the SoCon standings and await the result of the Wildcat's game against College of Charleston on Tuesday. A win or tie by DC would knock the Black and Gold to fifth and relegate them to a road quarterfinal to begin the SoCon Tournament. If CofC is victorious, the Mountaineers would host Davidson in the opening round on Saturday, Nov. 5.

Davidson scored Saturday's first goal with under two minutes to play in the first half. Dennis Shannon headed the 44th-minute goal off passes by John Pace and Peter Paras.

The Wildcats extended the lead in the 60th-minute as Thomas Zimmerman gathered a rebound of a Jake Keator shot, and Zimmerman shot from 10 yards to double the lead to 2-0.

DC iced the game in the 75th minute when Chris Pettiglio and Nick Grube broke away and Pettiglio sank the final shot to clinch the 3-0 win for Davidson.

ASU's Sean Dreybus (Newport News, Va./Warwick) recorded both of the Mountaineers' shots on goal; keeper Danny Free (Doncaster, England/Hall Cross School) had two saves in net.

The Mountaineers close out the regular season on Tuesday, Nov. 1 when they travel to Johnson City, Tenn. to face ETSU at 7 p.m.

Field Hockey Stumbles At Longwood, 2-0

Appalachian State University field hockey dropped its final regular season game to Longwood, 2-0, on Saturday afternoon in Farmville.

Longwood (11-8, 5-1) scored the contested first goal at the 20 minute mark by a goal from Amanda Babineau and was assisted by Stacey de Grandhomme. Sarah Bietsch increased the Lancers' lead to 2-0 in the 30th minute.

In a scoreless second half Mountaineers' senior Bridgette Street made two saves and tallied five saves for the game, while Lancers' Kaye Goulding made three saves in the half and five
