An area man has been arrested on charges related to stealing jewelry and a computer from family, then pawning or selling those items. Boone Police were called to a report of a dispute at a home on John Thomas Drive in Boone. Upon the officers' arrival, a man ran and was apprehended a short distance later. Daniel Cole Featherstone, age 20, was charged with one misdemeanor count of resisting, delaying, or obstructing a law enforcement officer, three felony counts of obtaining property by false pretense, and three counts of misdemeanor larceny. The obtaining property and larceny charges are the result of an investigation in which Featherstone is alleged to have stolen items from his family members and pawned or sold them.

Featherstone was taken before a Watauga County Magistrate, then held on a $10,000 secured bond with a January 5, 2012 court date.
