

Perfect Day for a Plunge

Written by Steve Frank
Sunday, 29 January 2012 13:10

With colder weather replacing Friday's rain, Saturday weather was perfect for the annual Polar Plunge portion of Blowing Rock's Winterfest. Daring dunkers lined up to take the plunge at the Chetola Lake platform, raising money and having a great time in the crisp air. Winterfest wraps today with the WinterPaws pet show and other activities.