Appalachian State University junior Jared Stalling has received the Southern Conference Men's Indoor Field Athlete of the Week honor for his performance last weekend at the Niswonger Invitational, hosted by ETSU. The selection was made by the league's track and field coaches.

The Greensboror, N.C. native threw a personal-best 54-0 in the shot put to claim the Niswonger Invitational title. His 54-0 mark put him fifth all-time in the Black and Gold record book and keeps him on top in the conference. He also posted a fourth-place finish in the weight throw registering a throw of 60-1.25.

Stalling and Mountaineers will compete on Saturday at the Sykes-Sabock Challenge Cup hosted by Penn State at University Park, Pa.
