Appalachian State University baseball's first game of a three-game set at Wofford has been pushed back to 2 p.m. on Saturday as a part of a doubleheader after heavy rains and thunderstorms on Friday night. The Mountaineers' (29-9, 13-5 SoCon) Ryan Arrowood is slated to take the mound in the first game while Seth Grant is expected to start game two against the Terriers (17-23, 5-13).
