The Hickory Crawdads have announced the details for the rescheduled Chick-fil-A Christian Concert featuring Selah, which was postponed due to rain on Saturday, July 21. The nationally-acclaimed band will perform live at L.P. Frans Stadium this Friday, July 27, presented by Chick-fil-A, Gardner-Webb University, Hickory Christian Academy and 106.9 The Light.

Selah will headline a night of faith and family fun! The Crawdads will be on the road, but the evening will start with two local-area bands performing as opening acts before Selah takes the stage! Gates will open at 5 p.m. with the first band starting at 5:30 p.m.

All tickets from the rained out game on Sat., July 21 are good for the rescheduled concert this Friday. Those tickets may also be redeemed for two box seat tickets to any 2012 regular season Crawdads game. Tickets are still available for the rescheduled Chick-fil-A Christian Concert this Friday. All tickets for the concert are just $12 and will come with a FREE ticket voucher good for any regular season game this season.
