Appalachian State University women's golfer Haley Zagoria competed this week at the U.S. Women's Amateur Championship in Charleston, S.C. The tournament was held at the Country Club of Charleston. The Atlanta native finished two rounds of stroke play shooting a 20-over-par 162. Zagoria shot an 80 in round one while recording an 82 in round two. She finished nine-over-par in round one and 11-over-par in round two to finish tied for 147th.

The cutoff after two rounds of play was plus-eight over par, 150. The leader of the tournament is Yumi Matsubara, who is currently seven-under par while shooting a 135 over two rounds of play.

Zagoria ranked third last season on the team with a stroke average of 80.62. She completed 13 rounds of golf for the Mountaineers during the 2012-13 campaign.
