Appalachian State University's mid-week baseball game at Tennessee, originally scheduled for Tuesday, has been moved to Wednesday, Feb. 19. First pitch is set for 3 p.m. at Lindsey Nelson Stadium in Knoxville, Tenn.

Last week's winter storm forced Tennessee to shift its three-game weekend series versus Purdue from Friday-Sunday to Sunday-Monday. The mid-week game between Appalachian State and UT was moved to Wednesday so the Vols would not have play four games in three days.
