well as identify future collegiate riders. Riders are required to pre-register online at www.usacycling.org and no day-of registration will be permitted.

The road camp will take place from July 22-27 in Banner Elk, N.C. The camp will be open to men and women from the ages of 14 to 22. Riders are required to pre-register online at www.usacycling.org and no day-of registration will be permitted.

"Coach P.J. Noto and I are looking forward to hosting both camps this summer here at Lees-McRae. It is a great opportunity for us to showcase our campus and program, and to help develop the next generation of collegiate riders," said Hall. "Both camps will split time between the classroom learning about the most important topics in competitive cycling as well as spending a lot of time on the bike. The riders can expect to not only learn a lot and develop their skills, but we guarantee they'll have fun and fall in love with Banner Elk.
