

'Suspected embezzlement' at Mayland Community College

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Monday, 18 June 2007 20:05

Mayland Community College has found discrepancies in receipted monies for some Continuing Education classes.

According to Avery County Sheriff Kevin Frye, not a lot is known at present, but the SBI is working with his office and Mitchell County Sheriff's Office to investigate the matter. According to Frye, it could be a criminal case.

Frye says embezzlement is suspected.

Recent estimates believe the money mishandled was less than $8,000.

The College is participating in a thorough review and investigation of all records to ensure the State of North Carolina and Mayland Community College do not suffer any financial loss, according to a Mayland statement. According to Frye, more information should be released later this week.