

Daylight Saving Time Underway – Don't Forget Work Clocks

Written by Christie James

Monday, 12 March 2007 03:20

Daylight Saving time is underway. A Congressional mandate required clocks to spring forward one hour yesterday

Daylight Saving time is underway. A Congressional mandate required clocks to spring forward one hour yesterday as daylight saving time went into effect three weeks earlier than usual. The change was to increase energy savings. While you may have taken care of clocks around the house yesterday, don't forget computers and office clocks today.