

Book donations accepted at Horn in the West office

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Monday, 09 July 2007 18:15

---

The Southern Appalachian Historical Association is more than the parent organization for acclaimed outdoor drama Horn in the West. I t's also over Hickory Ridge Homestead- preserving High Country history and promoting education.

Now, they're asking for your help. Book donations are currently being accepted at the Horn in the West office.

While the hours are technically 9-2, drop books off anytime on the porch.

The book sale should be around the time of the Apple Festival, he says. Occasionally, impromptu Saturday sales pop up during the Farmer's Market. Books will be sold at the low price of $2 per bag.