

Laptop stolen while family at church

Written by Lauren Ohnesorge
Sunday, 15 July 2007 20:17

Last week, a Wilkes family was the victim of an alleged theft while at church.

The family arrived home to find the backdoor broken open. The family's laptop, which had been placed on the bathroom window, was gone. Homeowners saw a young man looking at the house earlier- and have described him as a white male, maybe fifteen years old, with sandy blonde hair, about 120 pounds.